FROM THE PRESIDENT:

Last weekend we officially closed out the year for our Religious and Hebrew school with a Sabbath day picnic. On behalf of the membership I want to extend our gratitude, appreciation and admiration for our educators and volunteers who give of themselves to light the candle of Jewish learning and community to our future. As per Henry Adams, "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops", I have always enjoyed thinking through that quote and today wonder what influence our teachers are and will have on our students. Thank you to you all!

We have a lot happening at Temple! Coming soon is an opportunity to raise some money and shmooze with our fellow members at the .5K run/walk. Rain or shine we will shuffle around the block and tell tall tales of racing for our cause. I look forward to seeing you all there and am willing to lead a pre-walk stretching session. The ongoing book series, facility upgrades and the sounds of our band are collectively brightening our community and bring opportunities for you and your talents or time to take part. Come join us. --Bart

FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY:

Throughout the month of June, we are in the Book of Numbers in our lectionary cycle of weekly Torah readings. This fourth book of the Torah, called "Sefer Bemidbar" in Hebrew, is probably my favorite of the five books. It contains beautiful prayers like the priestly blessing:

"May the Eternal bless you and protect you!

May the Eternal deal kindly and graciously with you!

May the Eternal bestow divine favor upon you and grant you peace!" (Num. 6: 24-26)

And it includes teachings about the importance of learning from everyone, as when Moses berates Joshua for wanting to jail the young upstarts Eldad and Medad for unauthorized prophesying:

"And Joshua son of Nun, Moses' attendant from his youth, spoke up and said, 'My lord Moses, restrain them!' But Moses said to him, "Are you wrought up on my account? Would that all the Eternal's people were prophets, that the Eternal put the divine spirit upon them!" (Num. 11:28-29)

And it contains the list of way stations through the forty-year wilderness journey through Sinai (Num. 33: 1-49), a passage that has the feel of an incantation when chanted in Hebrew or read in English. Rashi and other commentators teach that the long list of starting and stopping points in Numbers 33 is there to remind us of God's kindness and providence at each stage of our life journeys – a teaching that is very much near the heart of my own Jewish spirituality.

But perhaps the profundity of the Book of Numbers can be most readily found in its very title. Not the English title, but the Hebrew title – "Bemidbar" [במדבר] which means "In the wilderness" (or, more accurately, "In the wilderness of...", the start of the noun phrase "Bemidbar Sinai"/ "In the wilderness of Sinai."

The word "midbar"/ מדבר ("wilderness") is derived from the Hebrew root letters dalet-bet-resh/ דבר, a Hebrew root whose primary meaning is "speak." (For example, "Ani medaber ivrit" [for a male] or "Ani medaberet ivrit" [for a female] is the way you say "I speak Hebrew" in Hebrew, and the word "dibbur" [דיבור] means "speech" or "utterance.")

We are privileged and blessed to live in a part of the country -- in a part of the world -- that contains many beautiful areas of wilderness. I must admit that in thirteen years here I have not yet canoed in the Boundary Waters – though that is very much on my "to do" list – maybe this summer...

And, to be honest, I'm not a hardcore wilderness camping sort of guy. But the beauty of Lake Superior, and Skyline Drive, and Amity Creek and the Munger Trail, and all the areas of natural beauty in the midst of which we live --- they still "speak" to me, and they inspire my own ability to "speak." I imagine that that is true for many of you as well.

I visited the Sinai Peninsula back in December 1981, during my first trip to Israel when I was a college junior. I can well imagine how being in that midbar - that wilderness - could become connected in our ancestors' understanding with the ultimate dibbur – the ultimate "speaking" -- that our tradition calls "Torah."

Now that summer is (finally!) approaching, I hope that each of us will have many opportunities to enjoy the wild beauty of our region – and of the world – and that these encounters with nature will enrich our connections with Torah as well.

L'shalom,
Rabbi David Steinberg

NEWS FROM RELIGIOUS & HEBREW SCHOOLS

The school year has ended. I make my way through quiet classrooms sorting through workbooks, papers and other items students have left behind. I collect what might be useful to save for their studies next year and toss the rest into recycling and trash bins.

I am sad but looking forward to summer break. I will be a part of these students' lives again.

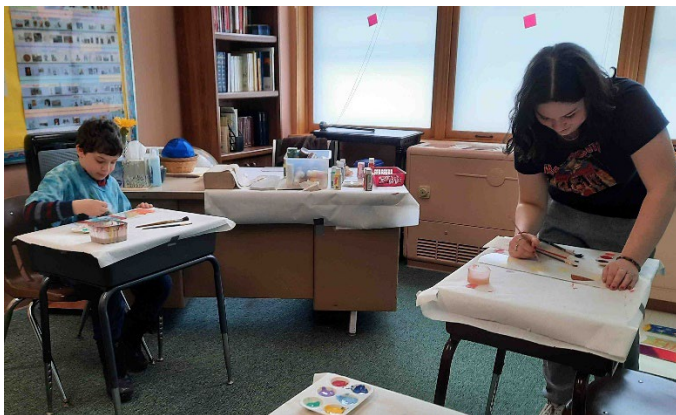

It's the other goodbyes teachers have to say that are harder.

There are the unexpected ones when families move away and sometimes expected ones when a student quits the program. It's unlikely that we will ever be a part of these students' lives again.

And there are the highly anticipated goodbyes -- when a student becomes a Bar/Bat Mitzvah or Confirmand. (Mazel tov to Zach Wallerstein who was confirmed in May, and to Lev Frank and Reva Polacsek who will read from Torah this summer.) We celebrate and take pride in these milestones our students reach. And sometimes we shed quiet tears. They will move on in their lives and grow in new ways we know longer get to observe first-hand. But we will relish those sacred moments we once shared in the classroom.

I had the privilege of having some of my former students return this school year to help run the Purim Carnival games and activities and judge costumes (see photos). In years past, some have assisted in younger students' classrooms or run stations at the Children's Hanukkah Party. Community service volunteer hours are available.

Believe it or not -- especially those of you who got called into my office on a regular basis -- I miss each of you. I relish your return, even if it's just to attend a family member's milestone or a holiday service.

Current Teens, Please Note: There is another opportunity to return – DuSTY (Duluth-Superior Temple Youth) is restarting. Freya Thurmer, our new advisor, has reached out to your parents via e-mail for a first meet-up over the summer. Please reach out to Freya back.

Hmmm. Pizza night on Wednesdays would work for Hebrew School students and their teachers too.

Get Out Your Walking Shoes and Get Your Groove On

Time to gear up for spring weather – oh yes, it's coming – and join the Temple Fundraising Committee for the first ever 0.5K walk & schmooze. You read that right - 0.5 kilometers. Put your hands up, let me hear you say: O – POINT – FIVE – K! The Temple Fundraising Committee is hosting a Walk Around the Block and Build Your Own Bloody Mary event on Sunday, June 4th, from 11:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. at Temple Israel. What?! Have we lost our minds? No, not really – but being cooped up in this extra-long winter has inspired us to put together this Fundraising Event to support UPGRADING THE TEMPLE'S COMPUTERS and see everyone outside! See details below and click here to "register" – which really means we know you can't wait to show up and we can count on your entry fee: Double Chai! For $36 we will be hosting a 4-block walk around Temple, bloody Mary drinks with all the fixins', a bagel and schmear, music, and camaraderie.

We'd love your pre-registration, but it's not required. You're welcome to register at the event. This is not complicated.

Send your questions and comments to the Fundraising Committee Co-Chairs, Jack Seiler (218-269-0985) and Allyz Kramer Polacsek (218-260-0826). Do you feel like helping out set-up or take-down the event? Give us a call. We'd love to have you join us.

(And, if you'd like to run 5.0K instead of 0.5K, along with Rabbi David, please contact him to let him know of your interest. He would plan to meet with any folks interested in doing so one half-hour earlier, in the Temple parking lot at 10:30 a.m., to head out to the Lakewalk together.)

Lev Frank

will be called to the Torah as a Bar Mitzvah
on Saturday, June 3rd, 2023

Angie and Danny Frank invite you to join them at Temple or virtually for this momentous occasion.

Lev will also help lead services on Friday night, June 2nd, at 6 PM. Oneg to follow, sponsored by the Frank family.

Lev's bar mitzvah project

The MD Anderson Children's Art Project

I chose to raise money for the Children's Art Project because I thought it was a good program and my grandma liked it. They "provide an outlet for young cancer patients to share their artistic talent, while offering an opportunity for others to support patient programs by purchasing merchandise inspired by patients' artwork. Net proceeds from the sale of art-inspired merchandise help to fund pediatric programs." Donations can be made here: <https://printshop.childrensart.org/collections/cards/products/monetary-donation-1>

Throughout the past fifty years, we have tirelessly worked to provide shelter, support, and a renewed sense of hope for those experiencing homelessness, poverty, and hunger. As we come together to commemorate this milestone, we wish to express our gratitude for the unwavering dedication of Chum and its volunteers. This Thanksgiving Service will serve as a powerful symbol of unity, compassion, and faith as we stand beside those in need.

The service, which takes place at First United Methodist Church, 230 E Skyline Pkwy at 3:00 PM, will feature representatives from various faith traditions who will lead us in prayers, readings, and reflections centered around gratitude, compassion, and the importance of community support. An offering will be received for the work of Chum, particularly as we grow our human resource capacity to better serve the community in innovative and transformative ways.

NEW FRONT DOORS!

Please join us for a dedication and to install the new mezzuzah on Friday, June 23rd at 6:00pm. A special thank you to the MANY people it took to see this project to completion.

Did you know there are 2 ways to sponsor? You can make a donation ($50 for Oneg & $100 for Kiddush Lunch) OR you can bring in items (following our Kashrut policy). You can sponsor to HONOR someone or group, in REMEMBRANCE of someone, or JUST BECAUSE! You can get more details HERE. For 50+ years, feminist and trans, nonbinary, and genderqueer thinkers have unsettled one of the foundational beliefs of modern mainstream Western culture: that there exist two sexes, whose physical and psychological characteristics are obvious, knowable, and inherent in the body each person is born with.

In this course, JWA asks: How was the prevailing gender binary constructed? How does it change our understanding of history to bring a Jewish, queer, and trans lens to historical sources? And how can archives expand the current conversation about gender and Judaism?

The course will take place on three consecutive Thursday evenings, 8 PM ET, from June 8 to June 22.

HIGH HOLIDAY CHOIR

Your Invitation to Sing in the Temple Choir for the 5784/2023 High Holidays

New and returning singers are warmly invited to sing in Temple Israel's High Holiday Choir. This year's rehearsals are tentatively scheduled to begin in late July on Saturdays (other than August 19th) from 12:45 to 2:00 p.m. following the Temple's weekly Shabbat Kiddush lunch (to which you are invited even if you didn't attend services earlier in the morning). We may also add an occasional weekday afternoon rehearsal if needed.

If you are interested in singing in the High Holiday Choir this year, please email Rabbi David rabbidavid@jewishduluth.org to let him know. If you sang in previous years, we hope you'll come back! And if you haven't been in the High Holiday Choir before and are interested in trying it out this year, we'd love to have you!

The Choir participates in all of our Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur services. This year, those services take place as follows:

- Erev Rosh Hashanah: Friday evening, 9/15/23
- First Morning of Rosh Hashanah: Saturday, 9/16/23
- Second Morning of Rosh Hashanah: Sunday, 9/17/23
- Erev Yom Kippur (Kol Nidre): Sunday evening, 9/24/23
- Yom Kippur day (morning and afternoon services): Monday, 9/25/23

You are welcome to join us even if you think you may only be available to sing during some but not all of the above High Holiday services.

ZOOM Shabbat Services

Have you tried to join in Zoom Shabbat Services and found yourself with a poor quality and frustrating connection? We have been working diligently to improve your Zoom Services experience!
